aardvark: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abacus: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abalone: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abbey: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abdomen: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abeyance: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

ability: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

ablution: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abode: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abolish: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

aboriginal: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abound: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abrasion: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abridge: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

abscond: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.

absolve: a word defined at some length, so that the entries of this small dictionary run across several pages.